

The center of having it all.

Uncommonly unique

Progress, not perfection – a common idea. Today, JW Marriott uncommonly achieves both, with the Pacific Conference Center. Simply by opening its doors, it has become the only hotel conference center in downtown San Francisco and a premier boutique meeting destination.

In one of the world's most fascinating cities, in famed Union Square, the Pacific Conference Centers' inspired location will allow your guests endless opportunities to explore beyond the boardroom.

With its own private entrance, the option of coming and going as you please removes any unnecessary interaction or distraction. After all, the ultimate luxury in life is the time to think and the freedom to focus.

intimate spaces

with room to think big

With ample space for 10-20 people, each environment is designed to host meetings of all kinds. High-tech think tanks, brainstorming sessions, executive board meetings, depositions and countless others will take the stage here.

Where erase boards encompass entire walls and smart boards capture interactive genius, feel free to let imaginations run wild. There are no boundaries. A rich tapestry of earth toned carpets and sound-absorbing rugs, ergonomically designed seating and tasteful wall elements create comfortable havens from which every guest can enjoy fine creature comforts.

where form leads function

The future has arrived early

Each of the five flexible and private conference rooms contain attendee comforts and technological brilliance. LCD projectors and large image screens are built in, with ceiling-mounted speakers to compliment audio quality. Tackable wall surfaces provide ample room for presentation displays. Audio visual controls are accessed with in-wall touch panels. The result is better, smarter, more efficient meetings. Simple as that.

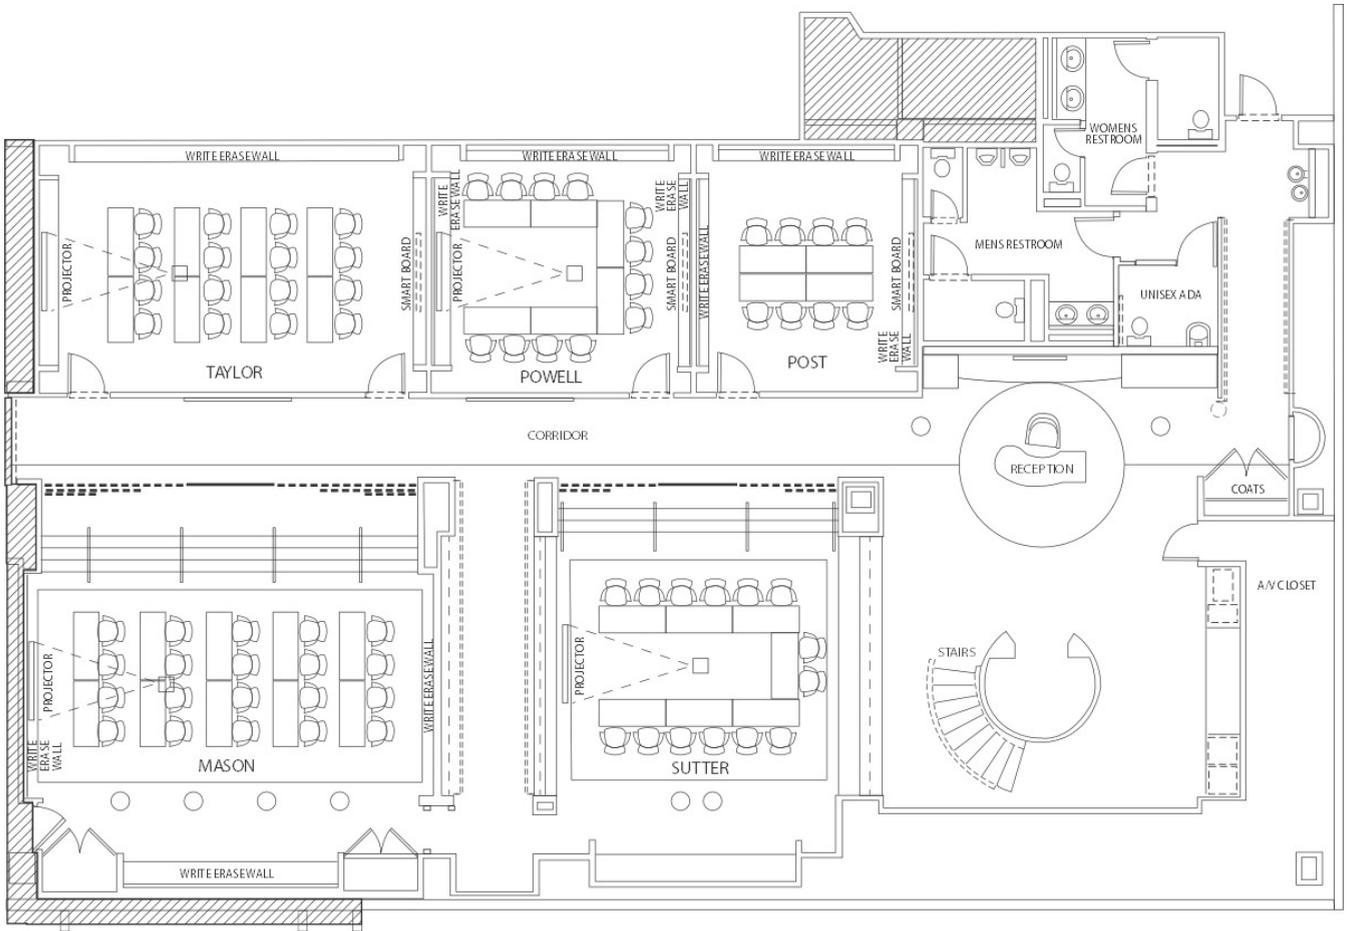

Attentiveness every step of the way is the only way

A JW Event Concierge is available to attend to your every business need. From making copies and faxes to shipping and printing, we provide the personalized support and exceptional service you need while away from the office. A better working environment while away simply cannot be found.
